

CTL – Contemporary Textiles London

CTL comprises a group of artists passionate about contemporary textile art and their own individual textiles practice. The objective of the group is to enable wider recognition of contemporary quilters' and textile artists' work. We exhibit as a group and as independent practitioners.

The twenty-six members of the group meet monthly at 107 Leadenhall Street, London, travelling from various locations within and outside the capital. We benefit from group discussions on topics related to art textiles, critique and offer advice on each other's work and visit exhibitions together.

As a group we are free-spirited, friendly, informative, inspirational, interesting, joyful, opinionated, sharing, skilled, stimulating, supportive and varied in our artistic approach.
